The youth are major human resources for development, and this key agents of social change, economic, development and technological innovation. Therefore a need for youth involvement and participation in the socio-economic, cultural and political environment of the country, in its development programmes, as well as activities based on youth's specific needs, desire and aspirations were felt. It was also observed that a mass youth organization at the national level would facilitate the mobilization of the rural youth towards this end. Thus the Nehru Yuva Kendras were established in 1972 with the objectives of providing the non-student rural youth with the opportunities to grow and achieve national goals.
